She Stayed In Bed.

Ingram, Tex.—"Ever since I became a woman," writes Mrs. E. M. Evans, of this place, "I suffered from womanly troubles. Last fall I got so bad, I had to stay in bed for nearly a week every month. Since I have taken Cardui, I feel better than I have for years. You can rely on Cardui. It acts on the womanly organs and helps the system to regain its normal state of health, in natural way. Prepared especially for women, it prevents womanly pains, by acting on the cause, and builds up womanly strength in a natural way. Purely vegetable. Mild, but certain in action. Try it.—Advertisement.

Bad Boys Get Away.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 15.—Using a window weight torn from a window in their room as a bludgeon, George Noe, aged sixteen, of Louisville, and William Sexton, aged fourteen, of Portland, Ind., struck down keeper D. F. Johnson and made their escape from the Detention Home Thursday. Johnson's left shoulder was broken. Johnson entered the room in response to a call from Sexton that Noe was beating him. Mrs. Johnson, wife of the keeper, hearing the commotion, hurried to the assistance of her husband and her arm was severely bruised in trying to prevent the escape. Both lads escaped.

CLEAN THE PATHS OF WEEDS

Mixture of Arsenic and Water Applied in Ordinary Sprinkler Will Save Much Labor.

In summer when weeds and grasses grow rapidly in the paths in flower and vegetable beds, and one does not care to be continually digging up the paths, or covering the earth to be loose by pulling the weeds, the paths may be kept pretty free from weeds and grass by applying the following solution with an ordinary sprinkler:

Take five ounces of powdered arsenic, and one gallon of water, and boil the arsenic and water together, stirring constantly as the mixture boils for several minutes. When thoroughly mixed by this process, add two gallons of cold water, and a half pound of soda.

The paths should be dry when this is applied. One-half the quantity can be used if there is not much space to be freed from weeds.

This will save hours of very irksome toil in hot weather when vegetation is apt to grow very rank and make paths very unsightly.

PLAN TO PROPAGATE GRAPES

Layering is Easier Than Many Other Ways—Covered Vine Will Throw Out Roots.

Grapes may be propagated by means of layering more easily than in many other ways. The best plan is to dig a trench from two to three inches deep, lay the vine in this and cover it over. Leave the tip sticking out.

Layering Grapes.

The vine that is covered will throw out roots and send many stems up at the joints. These may be separated and planted separately.

A raspberry vine may be made to produce new plants by bending over the tip of a cane and covering it with dirt at the end.

Shipping Fertility

From The Farms.

There is only one dairy cow to every fifty-nine acres of land in the territory embracing Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, too small a ratio for permanent agriculture, according to James W. Watson, assistant professor of dairy husbandry in the University of Missouri and secretary of the dairy show to be given in Kansas City September 18 to 22. The following is cited by him to prove that this region needs more dairy cows if it expects to maintain permanent agriculture:

1 ton of oats shipped loses from farm $8.00 fertility.
1 ton corn (worth $25) loses from farm $6.66 fertility.
1 ton clover loses from farm $6.50 fertility.
1 ton of beef on hoof loses from farm $4.40 fertility.
1 ton pork on hoof loses from farm $3.30 fertility.
1 ton milk loses from farm $1.20 fertility.
1 ton butter (worth $600) loses from farm 49 cents fertility.—From Kansas City Star.

HELPED JUDGES OUT OF HOLE

Housewife Really Made Decision That Was Solemnly Handed Down From the Supreme Bench.

The opinions of the Supreme court of the United States are very carefully guarded up to the moment they are read from the bench; but now and then, after a decision has become history, there leaks out an entertaining story of how it came to be rendered.

In his book, "Walks About Washington," Mr. Francis Leupp says that one such instance was the case of an imported delicacy that might have been classed either as a preparation of fish or as a flavoring sauce. The custom officers had levied duty on it as a sauce, and an importer had appealed. The justices, when they came to compare notes, admitted that they were sorely puzzled, and one of them suggested that, since the technical arguments were so well balanced, it might be wise to fall back upon common sense. That evening he carried a sample of the disputed substance home to his wife, who was an expert in culinary matters.

"There, my dear," said he, "is a sauce for you to try."

With one look at the contents of the package, which she evidently recognized, she exclaimed, "Pshaw! That's no sauce! That's fish. Didn't you know it?"

The next day the court met again for consultation, and on the following Monday handed down a decision overruling the customs officers and sustaining the importer's appeal.—Youth's Companion.
